FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Despatches to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. MR. SEWARD'S SPRECH.

Secretary Seward's speech at Auburn attracted much attention here to-day, and excited varied critieism. The Republicans say the shrewd old premier sees the tidal wave rolling on, and is one of the eleventh-hour converts to Grant. The Democrats de-nounce him as a trimmer for making up a heavy bill of indictment against the Radicals, and then declar-ing his willingness to vote to perpetuate Radical rule. The speech does not meet the approval of Mr. Seward's patron in the White House, who, while appreciating his compliments, differs from him widely as to his conclusions.

PREPARATIONS FOR GEN. GRANT'S RECEPTION. A meeting of the Republican organizations in the District of Columbia will be held on Wednesday evening, to make arrangements for a grand recep-tion to Gen. Grant on his return to this city. They think that by Wednesday they will be able to address

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31.—In the cases of C. W. Woolley and Kimberly & Bros., in the Superior Court of Baltimore City, against Gen. Butler, a desision was given to-day by Judge Dobbin, on the motion to vacate the summonses and declare them lifegal, recently argued by the Hon. Caleb Cushing and Mr. Schley, of Baltimore, for the motion, and K. T. Merrick, of Washington, and R. J. Brent, and William Meade Addison against the motion. The motion was on the ground that Gen. Butler, being a member of Congress, and returning home from a session of Congress at the time of the service of the writs, such service was lilegal and void. Judge Pobbin delivered a lengthy opinion, concluding as follows: "For the reasons I bave given, I am of opinion that the privilege of Senators and Representatives, secured to them by the Constitution of the United States, exempts them only from an actual arrost of their persons, or the service upon them of such process the disregard of which would expose them to an attachment for contempt, or other persons and the present and service upon them of Seventh Jubilce of the Reformation. The three hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Protestant Reformation, or the seventh period of fifty years, ended yesterday. Appropriate services in commemoration of the event were held in the Lutheran Church, Twenty-first street, both morning and afternoon. The Rev. Dr. Krotel, pastor, preached from the text, "The Lord hath showed us great things, therefore are we made glad." Among these "great things" was the Lutheran Reformation, and the extension of Protestant christianity throughout the entire world. He referred to Luther's wonderful revolution for religious freedom, and as his principles had become firmly planted in this country of ours, it was fitting to honor his memory in our churches from year to year. Sunday school exercises were held in the afternoon, and in the evening the pastor preached again on the occasion. The church was decorated with evergreens and flowers.

THE PRESIDENCY OF PRINCETON.—A very pleasant fact comes out in connection with the inauguration of Dr. McCosh as President of Princeton College. It appears that as soon as it was known that Dr. McCosh would accept the position, the irrends of the institution bestirred themselves to raise a fund which should secure him a sufficient and permanent salary. The movement reselted in a subscription amounting to $50,000, and the interest of this is entirely devoted to the object named. Very little has been said about this subscription, and it will interest the public to know that John I. Biair, the Republican candidate for Governor, to whose munificence the College has already been largely inbebted, headed the list with $10,000. Messrs. H. L. & A. Stuart, the sagar dealers, gave $5,000; Mr. Stuart, President of the United States Trust Company, of New York, and a number subscribed $1,000, while the balance was made up in smaller sums. Then, after conpeling this $20,000, a smaller subscription, amounting to between $7,900 and $8,900, was made up to refit and refurnish the house which has been act apart for the Fresident, so that he enters upon his office under circumstances the most favorable,—Trenton Gazette.

An Adirondack Tragedy.

From the Utica Herald.

It will be remembered that in the latter part of September Otis Arnold, the well-known guide of John Brown's Tract, shot and killed a man named James Short. The murdered man was a resident of Saranac river, and was stopping at Arnold's for a time. The two were one day engaged in a dispute over a dog colar which Arnold claimed, but which Short refused to yield. The result of the quarrei was that Arnold shot Short. The homicide then called his family together, made some disposition of his property, and announced his intention to take to the woods and never be captured alive.

We have heard of no attempt on the part of the authorities to bring Arnold to Justice, and yet accident or his own hand has at last taken his life. It is reported that his body has been found in Nick's lake near his late residence. The body gave evidence of having lain in the water some time, and the supposition is that Arnold took his life shorily after committing the murder. The body was discovered by E. Arnold and Mr. Kellogs. The boat of the suicide was floating on the lake. The Herkimer county of the body.

supporters of Seymour and Blair in the canvass in this city, in a speech made before the Nineteenth Ward Democratic Club on Wednesday night, spoke s follows of Gen. Grant's personal and military character: The most painful duty of my life is that I am compelled to oppose Gen. Grant in this canvass. He is my personal irlend. I was intimate with him before the war. I shared the perils of the battle-field and the precious intercourse of camp life with him during the war. I have retained his confidence and affection since the war. I long cherished the hope that he would be the standard-bearer of the Democratic party in this contest. I repeat to you tonight, what I have said in forty odd speeches made by me in this campaign, that Gen. Grant is a gestieman of unsulfied honor, a just man, a man of correct habits, a man of intellect, a hunane man, a man of unsulfish patriotism. The irresistible logic of success has proven his military senius to be above the reach of calumny or captious criticism. Whether you approve or disapprove of my opinions, no partisan feeling, no desire for party success, will ever deter me from defending his personal and military reputation whenever, wherever, and by whom-sover assailed. I think that man is neither a gentleman, a Christian, nor a true Democrat, who will cermit his character: The most painful duty of my life is that political opinions to interfere with his private friend-ships. While I oppose, and shall continue to attack with all the powers God has given me, the political platform of the party Gen. Grant represents, I shall never forget that in all profitable discussions of great principles it is essential to separate the advocate from his cause.

German Republican Meeting in Cooper Institute—Major-Gen. Fremont's Address.

On Saturday night, the hall of Cooper Institute was filled with an audience of German Republicans. The chair was taken by Dr. Krackowizer, who opened the business of the meeting. After the reading of the list of Vice-Presidents, which included the names of many prominent citizens. Dr. Friedrich Schütz delivered a stirring address in German, in which he treated mainly of the strength of the Republican form of government, and of the approaching end of the Democratic party. The Chairman then introduced.

Major-Gen. Fremont, who was greeted with long and loud applause. As soon as he could be heard, he began by saying that an occasion lost by one side was gained by the other, and that victories were wou by single rotes. No man should pause in his work until final success was won. Many Germans did not come here because they preferred this country to their own, but because of being turned away irom their old homes by revolution. The new homes which they had cetabiished here had agreed with their old ones; harmony and progress. German industry had done the work of generations in developing the West. In the West, German and loyalty were one and the same word. German bayonts made a bulwark on the Mississippi against the shock of rebellion. Quieter but not less important work was now asked of the Germans. They were asked to unite their influence to settle the unfinished business of the war. Some of the question of suffrage concerned the whole nation. The question of labor, so intimately concerning the South, did not present serious diviculty. From personal knowledge the speaked to he decrease there would cease. The measures of the Republican party had not always been perfect, yet every obstruction had been thrown in 15. way; but they will finish what has been left undone by the late war. There are no party issues; the people would vindicate the Declaration of Independence, and d ing will be held this evening at Pythagoras Hall, 134 and 136 Canal street, to railfy the nomination of George Francis Train for Congress.

Republican Merting AT Carmansville,—The last turnout of the Republicans of Carmansville was made on Saturday evening at the Union League Hall.
Mr. Fuller presided, and speeches were made by the Chairman, Dr. Hailock, Col. Ketchum, Mr. Kitchell, and others. A company of Boys in Blue came over from Harlem and added to the general jubility of the occasion. Mr. Richard H. Greene was ununimously and heartly ratified as the nominee for Assemblyman from the Nineteenth District.

from the Nineteenth District.

Fennan Indignation Meeting.—A meeting of frish citizens of the Third Congressional District, Brooklyn, was held on Saturday evening, for the purpose of expressing their discuss at the conduct of the Democratic wirepulzers in Brooklyn, in ignoring the claims of the Hon. William E. Robinson to a nomination for Congress because of his zeal in behalf of Irish liberty while a member. Remarks were made by Col. Thomas J. Kelly, Capt. Cavannah, Judge Lynch, Col. Lynch, and J. R. Lyddy. The audience was large and enthusiastic.

The German Republican Club of the Sixteenth Wand, Thirteenth Assembly District.—

JOHN SAVAGE FOR CONGRESS.—The Independent Democrats of the Ninth District made a final turnout on Saturday night at the junction of Broadway and Seventh avenue, in favor of John Savage for Congress. A temporary plaiform was erected and hung with flags and landerns, and a band of music was in attendance. A large crowd assembled and were addressed by Gen. Hillyer, John Savage, E-q., and others. Much enthusiasm prevails in the district over the nomination of Mr. Savage, and his friends are confident of electing him. The influence of Gen. Hillyer, who is not a candidate, in thrown in favor of John Savage, and he now has a fair field against Fernando Wood on one side, and Dr. Francis A. Thomas on the other.

The Greman Republican Central Committee.
—This Committee yesterdy afternoon met at the Steuben House, Dr. Muhr presiding. Messrs. Beyerle, Dr. Gerke, and Jacobi were appointed a committee to prepare an address to the German voters.

crie, Dr. Gerke, and Jacobi were appointed a committee to prepare an address to the German voters. This Committee subsequently submitted an address, which was adopted and ordered to be published. This document is a final and urgent appeal to the Germans to support at the election to-morrow Republican candidates only, and to do their part, in voting for Republican Congressmen only, to give the next President a powerful support by Congress; and as the next Legislature has to elect a United States Senator, the election of a majority of Republican Assemblymen is considered of the greatest importance. The Central Committee warms the German voters carnestly from being led lato the support of Hoffman for Governor.
